January 2017 Newsletter

Hi Everyone,

Thank you for reading the Red Helmet Training Group January Newsletter. Happy New Year.

With the State Fire Training deadlines completed, RHT will be able to scale up some of the more non-traditional courses as well as focus on some great concept courses for this year.

Red Helmet Training originally formed five years ago as a table top and digital simulation company. We would take our table top simulators all over southern California to enhance strategy and tactics training for structure fires, multi-casualty incidents, hazardous materials response and of course our wildland sand and burn tables. With the hectic state deadlines, this was greatly scaled back but we are taking it back on the road. If your department would like to have this great training brought to you, please contact us for a quote.

We are also in the process of building a full-scale Command Training Center in classroom #2. We will be expanding our tactics and strategies courses with more table top and digital fire simulators. We are working on putting together some on-line training programs as well.
